HAVE LOVE AND LOYALTY GONE OUT OF FASHION? Jessie Martin believes that when it comes to love there are three types of people: the skimmers, the bottom dwellers and the ones who dive for pearls. Jessie is a pearl diver. She had thought her husband William was a pearl diver too. But when William leaves her for a younger woman, it's not just Jessie's heart that is broken, her ability to trust is shattered too. Refusing to retire from the battlefield of life, Jessie resolves to put her heartache behind her. She doesn't want to be that woman who was too scared to love again. There has to be another pearl diver out there; all she has to do is find him. When fate brings handsome flower seller Owen Phillips into her life, Jessie believes he may be the one but is her fragile trust about to be shattered all over again? The Flower Seller is a warm, engaging read about love, deceit, betrayal and hope.

A short story with an old man and a girl talking about space

Ponni goes from house to house selling flower garlands. Follow her as she walks her rounds. When they are around three, children begin to get curious about other people and the things they do. These simple photographic picture books, reminiscent of family albums, have been developed in interaction with children of this age group. The books in this series introduce and talk about a variety of working people, following them through a day in their lives. Ponni goes from house to house selling flower garlands. In the morning she buys flowers in the market and strings them together. Then she sets off across the city to sell them. This book journeys with her as she walks her rounds.

A charming and evocative tale of family and fortune from the queen of West Country saga, Linda Finlay. Isabella Carrington has been brought up in a life of privilege in London. Her life seems perfect, until her father suddenly announces bankruptcy. To save Isabella from destitution he sends her to stay with family she has never met, far away on a violet farm deep in Devon. Isabella is horrified to find her uncle expects her to work for her keep, packing up the flowers and selling them in the nearby market. However she soon discovers that life on a violet farm may not be so bad, especially when she meets handsome local farmer Felix Furneaux... Perfect for fans of Dilly Court and Katie Flynn.

Every bouquet tells a story... And every story begins at Blossom & Grow, a tiny jewel-like flower shop in the heart of Dublin. Here, among the buckets of fragrant blooms, beneath the flickering candles and lanterns, florist Lara works her magic, translating feelings into flower arrangements, changing hearts and lives. Whether its bridal posies, anniversary bouquets or surprise deliveries from secret admirers, Lara arranges the flowers for all manner of life-changing moments. No stranger to heartbreak herself, Lara knows flowers say more than words ever can. But can the flowers that heal the customers work their magic on Lara? Drawing together a delightful cast of characters, Ella Griffin brings her warmth, wit and wisdom to a captivating tale woven around a Dublin florist.

Excerpt from The Flower Seller, and Other Poems Still from each gate the hurrying people poured; Gay as the rampart flags their festive dress. Across the moat all drawbridges lay lowered.
